

Carolinas AGC Helps Promote “811”

To help promote the national “811” call before you dig phone number Colonial Pipeline, Carolinas AGC, the North Carolina One call Center and Qwest Communications funded the placement of the 811 logo on a tank at the Colonial Pipeline tank farm off Interstate 40 in Greensboro. The tank farm is the largest in the United States, and second largest in the world. It is estimated 70 thousand vehicles pass each day. The tanks are complete and receiving rave reviews across the nation.

One easy phone call to 811 starts the process to get your underground utility lines marked for free. When you call 811 from anywhere in the country, your call will be routed to your local One Call Center. Local One Call Center operators will ask you for the location of your digging job and route your call to affected utility companies. Your utility companies will then send a professional locator to your location to mark your lines within a few days. Once your underground lines have been marked, you will know the approximate location of your utility lines and can dig safely, because knowing what's below protects you and your family.

Always call 811 before starting any digging project!
