

Construction Estimating and Bidding 2 Day Workshop

The Construction Estimating and Bidding 2 Day Workshop will introduce the necessary skills for understanding the bidding and estimating process. Participants will develop skills to create and deliver workable estimates and bids and will be exposed to current practices, acceptable bidding and estimating methods, and learn how to evaluate information for potential construction contracts.

The training sessions will be led by Tony Hayes and Curtis Sims, construction industry subject matter experts with extensive experience specific to estimating and bidding. The Construction Estimating and Bidding 2 Day Workshop will be held at the CAGC Columbia, SC Plan Room. Due to the intensive nature of this course - registrations are limited to 10. Reserve your seat today!

This 2 day Workshop delivers essential information contractors need to know!

You will learn to work from actual construction drawings to understand specification formats, project manuals, and contract documents.

The instructors for this highly interactive workshop will lead you through actual calculations and procedures for planning the estimate.

You will learn quantity take-off methods and develop methods for pricing materials and labor costs.

Exercises to teach Construction Divisions and the implications for contractors are included.

A Final Exercise for the seminar is preparing a Bid and Bid Submittals.
