Fifth Annual Human Resources Workshop & Conference

Developed Specifically for Carolinas AGC Member Firms

The Carolinas AGC Human Resources Committee specifically developed this conference to provide our member companies with construction industry specific information and presentations on important HR issues critical to complying with government regulations and necessary to manage a productive workforce.

Whether you are a small “Mom & Pop” construction company or a major corporation, this conference will benefit your business. We have enlisted the best experts in their respective fields to give attendees the most up-to-date and dependable information available. Conference schedule and venue have been chosen to be cost effective and minimize time away from work for attendees.

Conference presentations and subject matter have been prepared in an easy to understand format that won't leave you, or your team scratching your heads when you leave.

Who should attend? Anyone in your company responsible for managing and/or supervising employees, as well as those responsible for administrating employee policies, procedures and paperwork.

Last year's conference was a great success, don't miss this year's!

Is Your Company's Employment Program Up-To-Speed and in Compliance? It Can Be.
